Description

Your website must be secure to gain the trust of both users and search engines. HTTPS encryption, one of Google's ranking factors, provides that security. The checks in this section analyze your website security and highlight issues that may pose risks to it.

Issue description URLs return a 5XX HTTP status code when the server cannot fulfill the request. Pages that return such codes are inaccessible both to website visitors and to search engines. This means that search engine bots will be forced to abandon the request and people will simply leave your website. How to fix Analyze the list of URLs that return 5XX server response codes. Try reproducing the server error for these URLs through the browser. Also check the server's error log. If this is a constant problem for many pages of your website, consult your hosting provider or web developer. Your server may be overloaded or misconfigured. It's also worth considering that this error can be a temporary issue and mean that the website's server was undergoing maintenance works during the crawl.

Issue description If a page is blocked by the robots.txt file, search engines won't be able to access and index it when crawling your website. But if external resources link out to this page, it may get indexed despite the fact that it is blocked by the robots.txt file. How to fix Make sure that pages with valuable content are not accidentally blocked by the robots.txt file. If your goal is to prevent search engines from indexing pages, do not block such pages by the robots.txt file, but use the noindex directive instead.

Description

Misconfigured redirects can lead to incorrect locations. This can confuse users, ruin their experience, increase the number of HTTP requests to your website, and result in a traffic drop and crawling budget decline. The checks in this section help you maintain control over your redirects and pinpoint room for improvement related to them.

Issue description Note that search engines cut off extensively long titles and allow them to be up to 600 pixels in length in the SERPs. For this reason, it's better to take this size into account when creating the title. Otherwise, people may see an incomplete title in the search results. How to fix The general recommendation is to keep the title between 20 and 65 characters, with each word separated by a space, and concisely describe what the page is about.

Issue description The <h1> tag is the top-level page heading, which is the most important <h> tag. People usually see the <h1> tag as the title of the text, and search engines use it to understand what the page is about. Keep in mind that from the SEO perspective, the <h1> tag is the second most important tag after the <title> tag.	How to fix Make sure all of your web pages have a unique <h1> header tag. Depending on the website type and page structure, there may be more than one <h1> tag, but it is highly recommended to use only one <h1> tag per page. The key thing to keep in mind here is that your pages need to be logically structured.

Issue description Duplicate <h1> headings on different pages prevent search engines from understanding which site page is relevant to a particular search query. Pages with duplicate header tags are less likely to rank well, as they can confuse search engines about the page topic.		How to fix Write a unique <h1> for each page on your site, adding a clear description of the content on the page.

Issue description By having the same <title> and <h1> tags, you're missing out on the opportunity to present the web page from different angles and incorporate other relevant keywords. In addition, search engines can interpret the fact that you have identical <title> and <h1> tags as a sign that the page is over-optimized. How to fix Use different texts in the <title> and <h1> tags.

Issue description The URL pointed to by the hreflang attribute is not found, unavailable due to server issues, or has a redirect. The URL of the hreflang attribute should return the 200 OK response code. If this is not the case, search engines may ignore the attribute or misinterpret it. As a result, search engines will not be able to find alternative versions of your pages and, accordingly, direct website visitors to their correct language or regional versions.		How to fix By clicking on the number of found pages, you will see URLs with 3XX, 4XX or 5XX response codes that hreflang attributes point to. Indicate pages with the 200 OK response code instead of these URLs.

Issue description Some pages on your website are not loading fast enough. As a result, this negatively impacts the page's behavioral signals: if a page is taking too long to load, people tend to leave the page and go to another website. Moreover, the loading speed of a web page is one of Google's ranking factors.		How to fix Optimize the HTML code for the pages specified in the report. This is important because if the HTML code of the page isn't optimized, the page will take longer to load. Also, consider checking your web server, as it may be the root of the problem. If optimizing your code doesn't help, consider moving to a faster web server.

Issue description HTTP response compression is not enabled on your website. Compressing JavaScript files significantly reduces their size as well as the overall size of your web page, improving the page load time as a result. Uncompressed JavaScript files make your web page load slower, which has a negative impact on the user experience and search engine rankings. How to fix Configure server-side JavaScript compression. If you use uncompressed JavaScript files from an external resource, make sure that they do not slow down your page load time. Issue description Minification is the process of removing unnecessary lines, white space, and comments from the source code. Minifying JavaScript files makes their size smaller and, as a result, decreases the page load time, providing a better user experience and improving your search engine rankings.	How to fix Minify your JavaScript files. If you use JavaScript files from external resources, contact the website owner and ask them to minify such files. If your JavaScript files aren't minified, but your pages load fast, you can simply ignore this issue.

Issue description HTTP response compression is not configured on your website. Compressing CSS files significantly reduces their size as well as the overall size of your web page, improving the page load time as a result. Uncompressed CSS files make your web page load slower, which has a negative impact on the user experience and search engine rankings. How to fix Configure server-side CSS compression. If you use uncompressed CSS files from an external resource, make sure that they do not slow down your page load time. Otherwise, contact the owner of the resource where the CSS files are stored with a request to configure compression.

Description Internal links help search engine crawlers discover new web pages and ensure link equity distribution across the website. External links help support ideas and facts expressed in content with data from external sources. Both are indispensable components for a good user experience. However, they can ruin it if they don't work properly. This section checks whether the links on your website work correctly. It also suggests improvements if it discovers any issues.

Issue description Some external links on your website have an empty or naked anchor (i.e., anchor that uses a raw URL), or the anchor text only contains symbols. When clicking on links without anchors, it may be difficult for both website visitors and search engines to understand what to expect to see on the page that you link out to.	How to fix Review the links indicated in the report and, if necessary, add anchor texts or descriptive in-copy text around the link. Aim to use concise phrasing in anchor texts.

Issue description
Some pages of your website do not have the X Card tag. Without this tag, the page title, description, image, and so on won't be pulled up and displayed in your X posts along with the link. Instead, X will pull data from relevant Open Graph tags, if there are any.

How to fix
Use the X Card tag if you want the links to your pages that you share in your X feed to look attractive. Please note that URLs inside X cards must be absolute and utilize the http:// or https:// protocols.
